

International Society for Medical Shockwave Treatment

ISMST E NEWSLETTER 2019

EDITORIAL BOARD

K Raveendran – Editor
Silvia Ramon
Cristina d’Agostino

CONTENTS

Editorial
Guest Editorial
Message from President ISMST
Shockwave Research and Ethics
What’s New in the Literature about Shockwave Medicine?

EDITORIAL

K Raveendran

This is the second electronic newsletter published by ISMST mainly for the benefit of the members but will be also accessible on the ISMST homepage.

As editor, my apologies for the delay in the publication but we are sending this to reach you hopefully before the Beijing meeting.

This issue has a guest editor – Prof Karsten Knobloch who has written a short piece on a review of past ISMST meetings.

There is a message from the President, Prof Xing welcoming you to Beijing.

Editorial member Prof Silvia Ramon has written a very interesting paper on shockwave research and ethics that are very relevant today with the upsurge of ‘fake’ news and studies.

Editorial member Dr Cristinad’Agostino has reviewed two interesting recent publications. The first paper is a clinical paper comparing Shockwave and hyaluronic acid injections for first carpometacarpal osteoarthritis. The second paper is a basic research one on Shockwave therapy improving cardiac function on mice models.